

ECON 1B Course Update

As mentioned previously, class will continue online beginning the week of March 23.

Lectures:

In order to allow everyone maximum flexibility to finish the remainder of the course, lectures will be prerecorded and posted on Canvas to watch at your convenience. Each lecture will consist of material for one chapter and should be posted by the Tuesday of that week (The tentative schedule is below). For the Midterm 3 review, there will be a recording of me completing practice questions. For the Final Exam review, there will be an overview of important topics throughout the course.

Homework:

As usual, you will be assigned homework through Smartwork5 and each additional assignment will help reinforce material from a specific chapter. Homeworks will typically go live after the corresponding lecture is posted. For example, the homework for Chapter 5 will be posted on Smartwork5 after the Chapter 5 lecture is posted. In addition, to allow for maximum flexibility, all newly assigned homework assignments (From Homework 6 onwards) will all be due on Friday May 15 at 11:59PM PT (Last day of Finals week). Even so, you are encouraged to complete the homework assignments as soon as possible.

Exams (Midterm 3 and Final Exam):

Miscellaneous:

Of course you may have questions about the material remaining throughout the semester. If you do, the first step is to email me (herman.li@csus.edu) to see if you can be helped over email. If the issue is more involved, then a virtual meeting over Zoom can potentially be set up.
